Therefore, the Commodities Purchase Section will not pay the amount of any processing tax due on the products covered by this schedule; bidders should not, therefore, include the amount of the processing tax in their bids, but should take credit therefor in their returns to their Collectors of Internal Revenue. The Commodities Purchase Section will furnish whatever evidence the regulations of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may require to support the bidder's claim for credit. Claim for refund or credit of processing tax is to be based upon conversion factor as announced by the Treasury Department.

The sugar, when so distributed, will effectively be removed from normal channels of trade, since it will go to those who otherwise would be unable to buy sugar. The sugar purchased under a contract executed on this bid shall be over and in addition to the marketing allotment granted to the processor by the Secretary of Agriculture in C.U.S.B.S.
